

The Conference - "Improving Emergency Response"

The overriding aim of this two day Conference is to look at strategic and operational ways of improving co-responding. There is a stimulating mix of 'lessons learnt' from recent events combined with the opportunity to explore the capabilities of some key organisations. The programme is a natural extension to the previous years and will be as topical for new delegates as for ones who have attended before.

"An excellent conference
- please encourage all
Emergency Planners to attend"
Conference Delegate

Day One

- Central Government Preparedness – Post Pitt Review Bruce Mann, Head of the Civil Contingencies Secretariat, Cabinet Office
- Developmental Review of the Civil Contingencies Act Andy Fraser, Assistant Director of the Civil Contingencies Act Enhancement Programme, Cabinet Office
- Introducing Civil Contingencies National Occupational Standards (NOS) Julie Benson/Colin Wright, Project team, Skills for Justice
- Delivering Interoperability to First Responders Detective Chief Superintendent Michael Hallowes, Head of Strategic Operations, National Policing Improvement Agency (NPIA)
- 7/7 London Suicide Bombings - Lessons Learned John Pooley, Assistant Chief Ambulance Officer, London Ambulance Service NHS Trust
- Ambulance Hazardous Area Response Teams Hilary Pillin, HART Programme Manager, Dept of Health
- The Defence Contribution to Resilience Wing Commander Richard Garston, Chief of Plans, Standing Joint Commander (United Kingdom)
- Strategic Command of Incidents on the Highways Agency Network Howard Owen, Team Leader of the Network Resilience Team, Highways Agency
- Emergency Planning, Proactive not Reactive The Environment Agency
- European Emergency Response: Exercise Oasis, The Shropshire Trials Edith Wilkinson, Senior Research Officer, Security & Resilience Group, DCMT – Cranfield University and Carl Denton, General Manager for the East of England Ambulance Service
- Multi agency collaboration – The role of the Fire & Rescue Service
- Key Learnings from the Beijing Olympics

Costs

- Day 1 £185 + VAT
- Day 2 £155 + VAT
- Both Days £260 + VAT
- Multiple registrations of 3+, receive a 5% discount by applying online.
- 10% Discount available to members of the following organisations: IFE, EPS, the College of Paramedics or a Local Resilience Forum. Please complete this form and fax back with proof of membership to 01483 237234.
- Charitable organisations, NGOs and students are eligible for further discounts, please contact Alison Green on 01483 237230 or email alison@mconieagency.com to apply.

Day Two

- UK Regional Resilience – Emergency Preparedness, Response and Recovery Helen Braithwaite, Director of Regional Resilience for West Midlands / Andy Marshall, Director of Civil Contingencies for Staffordshire
- Business Continuity and BS25999 'Comply or Certify - that is the question?' Ian Speirs, Senior Consultant
- Airwave as an Enabler for Interoperability Jim Flocks, Project Manager, Sussex Police
- Buncefield – Emergency Response John Clarke, Head of Public Protection, Dacorum Council
- Response to Recovery - WRVS moving on! Angela Currie, Head of Emergency Services, WRVS
- Summer Floods 2007: Gloucestershire's Biggest Ever Peacetime Emergency Maddi Bali, Senior EMO / Deputy Head of EMS, Gloucestershire County Council
- Chemical Emergency Response - The Chemsafe Scheme Bill Atkinson, Head of Emergency Response, National Chemical Emergency Centre (NCEC)
- The UK contribution to the China Earthquake James McAlister, Business Continuity Manager, Merseyside Police
- An Integrated Response to Managing Tomorrows Incident – a rationale for multi-agency training Sally Sheen, Chief Executive, Fire Service College

The organisers reserve the right to amend the programme without notice

The Emergency Services Show Dinner

We are delighted to announce the first Emergency Services Show Dinner which is to be held on Wednesday 19th November. As an ideal networking opportunity, the evening is set to be an exciting and fun event. The price includes a drinks reception, three course meal followed by entertainment. For further information and to book a place, please visit www.theemergencyservicesshow2008.com to download a booking form.

Terms and Conditions

Cancellation: Where a firm booking has been accepted by us and is subsequently cancelled by the customer, the customer will be liable for the charges as detailed below:

30 days before the event No charge
21 days before the event 30% +VAT
<14 days before the event 100% +VAT

